April,

Hello, I am a SCV resident and am very concerned about new housing developments impacting our already dangerous water shortage here. We are facing another dry year with potential water shortage, and our SCV water board is thinking we should allow water to go to new housing developments while current customers will have to restrict their usage up to 40% during a Stage 4 CRITICAL shortage. Why is it only in a Stage 5 EMERGENCY shortage would they consider a pause to setting up new water meters for developers?!

Current ratepayers/customers should be prioritized over new development during a CRITICAL water shortage period (Stage 4).

Sincerely,
Lynette Jackson

Ms. Jacobs, please forward this email to the SCV Water Board Directors. Thank you very much.

Dear SCV Water Board Directors,

I am aware that you have been discussing whether to pause setting up new water meters for housing developments a bit earlier, during a Stage 4 CRITICAL shortage rather than waiting for an Stage 5 EMERGENCY.

I fully support this strategy. Saving water sooner by pausing new housing development temporarily rather than putting the entire burden of conservation on your current customers is a wise strategy that your voters appreciate.

Not doing so would signal to us that you prioritize the real estate developers' new construction (even before there are paying customers) over the people who are already paying for water for their homes and face some severe restrictions (40%!) at a critical level of water shortage.

I urge you to vote in support of your paying (and voting) customers and pause approving meters for new developments at Stage 4 rather than Stage 5.

Thank you very much for your consideration.

Dear April,

I'm emailing today as a ratepayer in the Santa Clarita Valley Water Agency District living in Stevenson Ranch. In this current state of water uncertainty, I believe that the SCVWA should prioritize current customers over new housing developments. To that end, I would recommend adding a provision to the current Water Shortage Ordinance being considered that would halt the installation of new water meters at Stage 4 instead of Stage 5.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter, and I ask that my email be forwarded to the board of directors.

I am writing to voice concern over the ordinance under consideration tonight. Forcing existing customers to restrict usage to allow access for developers is unacceptable. Residents should come first with such scarce resources.

While I accept that drought conditions may force some usage restrictions, the priority should always be existing residents.

Please vote against this ordinance.

My name is Valerie Bradford and I am contacting you regarding the upcoming Board of Director's vote on pausing the set up of water meters for new developments, scheduled for tomorrow.

I have lived here for 16 years and I, along with my neighbors totally respect the serious nature of our ongoing water issues. While I will be adhering to the upcoming water usage restrictions, I strongly believe that the approval of water meters for new developments need to be paused at the earliest stage of water shortage, or Stage 4 or sooner!

Please forward my email and community vote to the Board of Directors. Thank you in advance for your assistance.

Dear Directors,

I am writing to express my opinion concerning the ordinance under consideration that will allow new developers access to water while asking the Santa Clarita Valley customers to restrict their usage. This is unacceptable.

The Santa Clarita Valley Water Board has an obligation to ensure all residents have access to clean, affordable water. It is an insult to your customers that the board would even consider allowing new developers access to our water at this time. We are facing a increasing drought conditions and be must be vigilant in conserving water. Residents should be your first priority, especially during a water shortage.

Hello Alicia,

My name is Beth Jensen and I'm a resident of Saugus.

I've been reading through the documentation regarding an upcoming vote on an ordinance that would allow for water meters to continue to be set up for developers throughout most stages of water shortage, while myself and my neighbors will be forced to restrict water usage by up to 40%. I find this highly concerning and, frankly, irresponsible.

Please, can you forward the following request to the board members?

I urge you to prioritize CURRENT PAYING CUSTOMERS and voting members of this community rather than allowing for new water meters to continue to be set up for developers throughout most of the stages of water shortage.

I feel it's essential that you pause setting up water meters for new developments when water shortages are at the Stage 4 Critical shortage stage, rather than what has been proposed (Stage 5).

If this board truly values managing water responsibly they must consider the additional strain on our available resources should these new developments be allowed to continue to establish water meters through a significant water shortage.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Dear Board of Directors:

When considering and voting on the Water Conservation and Water Shortage Ordinance, your priorities should be with your current customers, not new housing development. Enough is enough. We have been customers of SC Water for 39 years and should not be compromised and forced to conserve 40 or 50 percent so you can allow precious water resources to be allocated to new developments. Use your common sense. Prioritize current SCV Water customers over incoming developers, especially during water shortages.

Please prioritize current residents, not new housing developments, when voting on the new ordinance on June 16 about new water meters for developers.

During the last drought, we had to remove our front lawn and replace it with artificial turf because of the water restrictions imposed on residents. We have always been efficient or super efficient in our water usage, and yet we had to pay higher rates after the drought to make up for the Agency's losses. Now there's another proposed rate increase. At the very least, the Agency needs to prioritize the needs of existing customers. A much lower increase in rates/fees for efficient users would also make sense. That way people would be encouraged to use water wisely.

Dear Ms. Jacobs,

I am writing about the misplaced wight given new housing over the existing homeowners.

Many cities have limited development because of water resources. To not protect the existing citizens of Santa Clarita over future development is the worst kind of malfeasance and a complete abdication of the responsibility of the board who would vote to approve new metering while projecting shortages.

For many of us who have in fact worked to make our homes more water efficient by ripping out less efficient landscape this is a a knife to our backs.

To Whom It May Concern:

Now that we have our fairly new SCV Water Agency to guide us during this time of expected growth and more than a possibility of a severe drought, a decision must be made by the board as to the best plan of action. A board who believed in climate change could easily be able to negotiate the solution to this problem by taking into account our water supply and our thirsty population (real and perceived). They would surely see that it would be better to err on the side of what water is available and slow the developers progress in building to offset the burden on our current residents.

Instead, again money talks and we find that there is a possibility that they will propose solutions that will penalize our residents so that the developers will be able to place more drain on our available water supply. Just change the rules and all will be well. The board must think that this drought is temporary and all "will be back to normal" by the time new homes are up for sale (at big profits, I might add).

SCV Water Board: Do the right thing and put a pause on metering new development until we know more about what the future holds for our valley.

Hello Ms. Jacobs,

It has been brought to our attention that the SCV Water Agency Board of Directors will be voting to approve the Water Conservation and Water Shortage Ordinance tomorrow (Wednesday, 6/16/21) evening.

We'd like to express our concern over the passage of this ordinance as it pertains directly to our family, being long-time and diligent customers of the SCV water agency. We feel that it is crucial that the agency prioritizes the best interests of their current customers over those of new housing developments. By passing this ordinance, this will, unfortunately, do exactly the opposite.

Thank you, Ms. Jacobs, for your attention and time in this matter. We'd greatly appreciate it if you would forward this email to the Board of Directors with the hope that it will reconsider approving the Water Conservation and Water Shortage Ordinance as it currently stands.
